

Your #1 source for exceptional humanities and social sciences research.

Project MUSE connects libraries and their users with exceptional scholarship from leading university presses, nonprofit publishers, and scholarly organizations around the world.

- Nearly 850 journals
- More than 117,000 books
- Hundreds of publisher partners worldwide

Flexible Book Purchasing for Your Library

Build a book collection that reflects the research, teaching, and learning needs of your institution.

Project MUSE offers more than 117,000 scholarly books across the humanities and social sciences, with flexible purchasing options that allow libraries to select the content that works best for their users and budgets.

Choose individual titles or build broader collections by subject, publisher, or publication date. MUSE can also help libraries expand subject coverage, support new programs and courses, or provide electronic access to print holdings.

FLEXIBLE PURCHASING OPTIONS INCLUDE:

- Single-title purchases
- Books Custom Collections (BCC)
- Evidence-Based Acquisition (EBA)
- Curated and interdisciplinary purchasing options

MUSE books are DRM-free and offer unlimited simultaneous use, downloading, and printing, making scholarship easier to access for students, faculty, and researchers.

Journal Collections for Every Library

Project MUSE brings together nearly 850 current and archival journals from leading university presses, scholarly societies, and nonprofit publishers.

Libraries can choose among a range of journal collection options designed to support different institutional needs, subject areas, and budgets. MUSE also provides access to a growing body of open access and freely available journal content.

PROJECT MUSE JOURNAL COLLECTIONS:

Broad Collections:

- Premium
- Standard
- Humanities
- Basic Research
- Social Sciences
- Basic College

Subject Collections:

- Arts
- Asian Studies
- History
- Literature Core
- Literature Expanded
- Philosophy & Religion

Plus+:

A flexible option for expanding access to additional MUSE journal content.

When your library chooses Project MUSE, you connect your community of users with high-quality humanities and social sciences scholarship while supporting a sustainable scholarly ecosystem.

INTERESTED IN LEARNING MORE?

Contact the Project MUSE Sales Team
MUSE_SALES@JH.EDU

Part of Johns Hopkins University Press

Exceptional Scholarship.
Connected Community.

MUSE.JHU.EDU

