

Bags and Luggage

There are many factors to consider when purchasing luggage for your next exploration such as durability, size, style, – and most importantly – price. Experts at ConsumerReports.org curated a luggage buying guide with recommendations on how to decide which luggage is best for your travel needs, including what brands are worth the buck, the pros and cons of certain luggage features, and tips for shopping. ConsumerReports.org also provides reviews of backpacks, weekend duffle bags, travel wallets, packing cubes, and antitheft bags.

Travel Accessories

The little things can make a world of difference when traveling. That's why ConsumerReports.org reviews travel accessories like luggage tags, travel mugs and cups, sleeping masks, noise canceling headphones, travel pillows, toiletry bags and more to point library users to the best of the best.

Access expert reviews on products like these and more on ConsumerReports.org Subscriptions through EBSCO offer end users a rich user experience, easy access via seamless authentication and entry points, and privacy for library patrons – with anyone using ConsumerReports.org on the library's account only being identified as "library user". Help your patrons make their next trip a breeze with ConsumerReports.org!

Ask your librarian
about accessing ConsumerReports.org
content

A Guide to Travel: Before You Board

Before You Board: Travel Smarter with ConsumerReports.org

Every successful vacation starts with planning. Whether you are booking flights, mapping out a road trip, or opening a new travel credit card, making smarter purchasing decisions can save you time, money and stress. Leave the researching and reviewing to ConsumerReports.org so you can focus on what really matters – enjoying your time away.

Advice for Airline Travel

ConsumerReports.org has compiled survey results to find the best air travel experience on economy and business class domestic flights. Their buying guide provides users with advice on how to select the best airline based on factors such as ease of check-in, seat comfort, cabin cleanliness, price transparency, flight status updates, and airline staff service.

Recommendations for Road Trippers

If you're hitting the open road for your next vacation, be sure to visit ConsumerReports.org for tips and tricks for the most cost-effective travel. Experts review essential things to consider for the next time you drive, such as ways to get the most out of your gas tank, comparisons of car rental services, and the best cars for road trips.

Choose the Best Travel Credit Card

If you're a frequent traveler, you may have considered opening a travel credit card to gain rewards with every one of your trips. Whatever your spending style is, ConsumerReports.org has reviews on what credit cards offer the best perks. Articles on ConsumerReports.org detail the best cards for road trippers, avid air travelers, culture lovers, and cards with car rental coverage or purchase protection.