Your bookshelves need attention from beginning to end.

Core Collections is the gold standard collection development tool

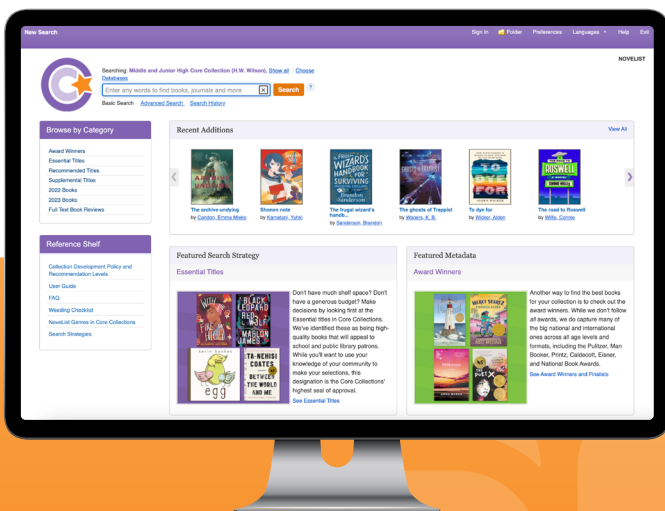

This comprehensive guide helps you build and maintain well-rounded collections of nonfiction and fiction books. Each Core Collection contains authoritative recommendations that are vendor and publisher neutral, and all titles are chosen with guidance by expert librarians.

Brought to you by the book experts at NoveList.

3 unmatched ways to use Core Collections

- ✔ For purchasing. Each collection is designed to help you in the discovery, evaluation, and selection of titles. The search capabilities of Core Collections allow you to research potential titles by Dewey Decimal ranges, Lexile, publication date, grade level, and more.
- ✔ For budget choices. All titles are assigned to a recommendation level: Essential, Recommended, Supplemental, or Weeded. The levels help you prioritize and spend your precious budget wisely.
- ✔ For weeding. Wondering whether a certain title ought to be discarded? Or would you like proactive help with weeding? Libraries use Core Collections to make those difficult decisions easy.

“We use Core Collections on a daily basis for our collection work from selection to weeding to help us balance demand and collection depth against budget constraints. Alerts help staff to get the information they need for their selection needs and recommendation levels make it easy for us to judge which titles should get extra copies if we have money at the end of the year.”
