

Learn with NovelList

Training that elevates
the patron experience.

Staff development with a book and library focus

Every time your library staff interacts with a community member, it's an opportunity to showcase the library and create a lasting connection. Staff are the most valuable resource at the library. It's critical to provide ongoing professional training taught by experts with relevant experience.

Empowering professionals

Suggesting books to readers is a core part of a library's mission. Learn with NovelList courses are designed to equip staff with the skills they need to work with readers and promote the library.

Live group workshops

Group workshops are perfect for staff days, department meetings, or to supplement your subscription. Delivered either in-person or virtually, our interactive workshops are engaging and wonderful for team building. We're happy to work with consortia and state agencies, as well as individual libraries.

Staff access subscription

Provide access for all staff members to a full catalog of self-paced and hybrid courses that fit their schedule. Add new staff members any time. Get immediate access to new courses as they are launched.

Individual courses

If you're looking for a more focused solution, you can choose to purchase one or more individual courses at a time. Libraries can buy three or more seats at a discounted price.

Courses to help you reach your goals

Whether your goal is to increase visitors, expand circulation, or provide top-notch recommendations to readers, we have training to help you reach your goals.

Reach readers

Do you want to provide outstanding and inclusive services to readers in your entire community? Invest in thorough, interactive training with expert instructors to build the confidence and capacity of your staff. Courses are taught by readers' advisory experts with years of library experience.

Promote your library

Empower staff to create effective marketing on all platforms, including print, digital, and in-person. Courses are grounded in strategy and goal setting. They include best practices for targeting and crafting messages, as well as measuring results.

Everyone we worked with at Learn with NovelList was helpful, caring, and knowledgeable, and we really appreciate the work they put into our course. Staff came away saying they couldn't wait to put their new readers' advisory skills to practical use with library patrons. I believe the lessons learned in the course will inspire an uptick in usage of the product.
