

Explore the engineering research landscape around the globe with Inspec Analytics

Inspec Analytics is a dynamic research intelligence tool that allows Inspec users to uncover research trends and patterns within the engineering and physics fields. Researchers can use Inspec Analytics to discover new topics and publications related to your field and find potential collaborators.

Ask your librarian for more information.